

22nd International Conference on Electronic Publishing (ELPUB)
Connecting the Knowledge Commons:
From Projects to Sustainable Infrastructure
June 22-24, 2018 | University of Toronto, Canada

CALL FOR PAPERS & PARTICIPATION

Share your ideas, initiatives and research!

Submission deadline extended to January 31, 2018

The theme for ELPUB 2018 is Connecting the Knowledge Commons: From Projects to Sustainable Infrastructure. The question of sustainability in the open access movement has been widely debated, but satisfactory answers have yet to be generated.

Market-driven versions of open access and open science are growing in prevalence, as well as a growing dependence on commercial publishers for the infrastructures needed to openly and democratically create and communicate knowledge.

This year's theme challenges us to collaborate on the design and implementation of a sustainable community-driven research communication infrastructure that is also inclusive of diverse forms of knowledge making and sharing.

The conference program committee invites contributions from members of the community whose research and experiments are focused on sustainability models for community based open infrastructure, trust and governance of the Knowledge Commons, and transforming the nature of scholarly communications.

If you are interested in sharing your research, ideas, and tools that contribute to the theme or just join in the discussion, please consider participating in the meeting!

About ELPUB

For over two decades, ELPUB has featured research and innovations in digital publishing, with a focus on transforming the nature of scholarly communication. The conference has attracted a diverse international community of librarians, developers, publishers, entrepreneurs, administrators and researchers across the disciplines in the sciences and the humanities.

IMPORTANT DATES

Deadline for extended abstracts is being extended to:

★ January 31, 2018 ★

Early-bird Registration opens: Feb 1, 2018

Conference Co-Chairs

Leslie Chan

Pierre Mounier

elpub2018@utsc.utoronto.ca

For more information and submission details, please visit our website:
www.elpub.net