About the Seminar

IPEM Law Academy, Ghaziabad, UP, India is organizing an International Seminar on “Sexual Offences Against Women” (ISSOAW 2021), on 10 April, 2021 (Saturday).

Sexual offences are often considered as somehow inherently different from other forms of offences since time immemorial. Sexual offenders occupy a special place in contemporary society's secular demonology. Sexual crime is a mainstay of the tabloid and broadsheet news papers, where offenders become 'monsters', 'beasts' and 'sex fiends.' Concern about sexual crimes has become a panic and barometer to study the development of civilization in a particular society.

The present Seminar therefore tries to find out firstly, the offences against women which are in essence sexual offences against women and secondly the relevant law which covers such offences. An attempt shall be made to find out whether the present law is gender neutral or not. As consent is the biggest factor in the determining the fact whether a particular sexual activity is an offence or not. The present Seminar therefore, focuses on the aspect of consent. Societies differ as to their perception of morality and with the passage of time human generation also changes its view and behaviour pattern.

Consequently changes can take place in the sexual orientation of the human beings and the law may not recognize that change. The present Seminar therefore gives a cursory look in to this aspect to find out the premise of our criminal law relating to sexual offences against women.

Penal Codes of mostly Countries deals with offences affecting the human body gives a place for sexual offences and makes a special mention about the offence of rape. This implies two things. Firstly the author of the Code, views rape as an offence which only affects human body. However most of the social scientists, medical practitioner, victimologists say that rape is not only physical assault against women but also a psychological assault. Secondly it seems the framers of the Code either failed to classify all the sexual offences against women or did not think it necessary to identify and keep all the offences which are in essence sexual offence against women, under the same chapter relating to sexual offence. However, in fact, the Code in other Chapters define certain conduct amounting to offences, which are in essence sexual offences; either because of the fact that these offences are committed against the weaker sex, and where sex is used as a weapon against women, or has some sexual overtones or overt acts or exploitation of sex or indecency to sex; or is a moral depravation to the society or has a tendency to disrupt the moral of the society or deceit to commit sexual intercourse; or procurement of persons including buying or selling for flesh trade.

The Constitution of India; which is the highest law of the country, has been interpreted by the Judiciary favorably to protect the women. The judiciary has even gone to the extent of asserting that Sexual offence violates the basic human rights of the women. The following offences may be regarded as sexual offences against women:

- a) Rape. ( Custodial rape, Marital rape, Intercourse not amounting to rape by public servant with women in his custody, Intercourse not amounting to rape by superintendent of jail, remand home etc, Intercourse not amounting to rape by any member of the managing staff of a hospital
- b) Outraging the modesty of women,( Assault or criminal force to women with intent to outrage her modesty, Obscenity )
- c) Marriage ceremony fraudulently gone through without lawful marriage, Bigamy.
