

Call for Papers

Society for Ethics Across the Curriculum

21st International Conference on Ethics Across the Curriculum
October 10-12, 2019
The Inn at Villanova University
Villanova, PA

Director:
Mark Doorley

Conference Theme: Race & Justice in America

Keynote speakers:

Anita Allen, University of Pennsylvania
Lawrence Krasner, District Attorney, Philadelphia, PA
Terry Nance, Associate Provost for Diversity and Inclusion, Villanova University
George Yancey, Emory University

We welcome submissions addressing any aspect of teaching ethics across the curriculum, but have a special interest in those that focus on ethical issues addressing race and justice in America. Possible topic areas include social justice (e.g., criminal justice reform, mass incarceration, immigration, environmental racism), politics and activism (e.g., district redlining, drug war, Black Lives Matter, reparations for slavery), professional responsibility (e.g., representations in the media, the meaning of #oscarsowhite, classroom dynamics), and affirmative action within education and academia.

Submissions may include full papers or abstracts (no more than 250 words). Session formats will include papers, panels, case study analysis and discussion, and pedagogical demonstrations. Presentations are typically 20-25 minutes in length, allowing for 5-10 minutes Q&A. Submissions are to be formatted for blind review and submitted by August 1, 2019 via EasyChair2019 (<https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=seac21>). We will accept only one submission per participant to ensure we have room for as many participants as possible.

The Society publishes Teaching Ethics, and papers for conferences may be sent to the editors for their consideration for publication.

For more information, contact Mark Doorley at mark.doorley@villanova.edu.